

GENESIS®

BRIGL WASH

BLANKET & ROLLER WASH FOR CONVENTIONAL, UV, CO-CURE & EB INKS

Genesis® Brigl Wash is a blanket & roller wash which replaces petroleum and surfactant based washes. Brigl Wash is extremely effective on conventional, heatset, EB, UV and co-cure inks.

In developing Brigl Wash, Amerikal addressed the following issues:

- Multiple products for various ink sets and curing methods
- Increasing petroleum costs
- Surfactant based washes which results in roller stripping
- Automatic blanket and roller wash systems
- SARA Title 313 & Hazardous Air Pollutants (HAP's) Chemicals
- VOC & cost of reporting (method 24 VOC's = .29 lbs/U.S. Gallon or 34.3 grams per liter)
- Web breaks after wash up (due to water content)
- Overall effectiveness and implementation into current process
- Flammability (open cup flash point is greater than 200°F)

Why use Brigl Wash? Brigl Wash Works. Brigl Wash is manufactured in America utilizing renewable American resources. Unlike all other low or zero VOC washes offered, Brigl Wash cuts and cleans ink with ease yet contains:

- ZERO Petroleum or Acetone
- ZERO Surfactants
- VOC's under 50 grams per liter
- ZERO Water
- ZERO SARA Title 313 Chemicals or Hazardous Air Pollutants (HAP's)

Brigl Wash is the answer to all of today's blanket and roller wash issues with printers reporting up to 50% reduction in use. From overall effectiveness, cost, environmental and safety concerns, Brigl Wash is the right product for every pressroom.

USE: Brigl Wash is designed for use in automatic blanket and roller wash systems as well as manual cleaning of blankets and rollers with all ink sets and curing methods.

For manual blanket washes, apply Brigl to a damp rag and wipe blankets until clean. Blankets can be wiped with a dry rag but it is not necessary.

For automatic systems, consult Amerikal for ideal settings.
